'Aging in Place, or Stuck in Place?'

Homeownership is not the boon to older Americans that it once was.

Susan Apel and her husband, Keith Irwin, are ready to downsize, but have been unable to find a suitable home. "We were very grateful to live in this lovely place and to have paid off our house," said Ms. Apel. "It never occurred to us that it didn't give us the ability to move out of it." ### Intergenerational Self-Help Groups (ISHGs)

Welcome to our Intergenerational Self-Help Groups (ISHGs) page, where we celebrate the strength of people from different generations working together. Our ISHGs are vibrant communities that foster mutual support, sharing, and collective action among people of all ages. By combining the wisdom of our elders with the innovation of the younger generation, we create a dynamic environment that promotes active and overall well-being.
